Hi jeffrey,

I'd like to introduce you to Jake Vartanian, young ambitious entrepreneur. He started investing and learning finance from the age of 13 and has a very special personality. He reminds me Masha Drokova in how peaceful and wise he is.

Now he works on Native. Below is more information on his project.

Jake is in New York till Sunday. May I intro you and maybe you could meet him tomorrow ?

Merci and greetings from tahiti.

Masha

Native

Native is a place to create and participate in Community-based economies. We enable Communities to generate their own unique currency and make collective decisions. The currencies enable access to community-value and exchangeability.

During community Creation, Native provides a range of templates which suit various Communities' needs to ensure that even those with limited economic and technical knowledge can participate in merging financial ecosystems.
