Jeff

Your point of contact in Legal for residential loan is Ben Spohn. Whitney is not involved in this space, so no need coping her further.

I have some thoughts on your issue, as I shared previously with you, that I need to fill Ben in on. Essentially, the risk to the Bank is taking the air space as collateral without advancing any new money. This is known in legal parlance as a fraudulent conveyance, and the risk is that it could invalidate the Bank's current liens. Is there anyway the coop can split the shares for the air rights separately and keep the transactions apart? This would remove the risk to our current lien.

Ben is out today, but I will circle with him on Monday. Give me a call if you wish to discuss further today. Thanks.

I am very sorry. I haven't dealt with this before, so I am not sure where to turn. I am copying Whitney and William, whom may be able to point us in the right direction on this Air Rights purchase.

Please be advised that Mr. David Mitchell purchased Air Rights for his additional PH space. The current stock certificate and proprietary lease have been pledged and we will need to include the additional shares purchased (355 shares) with the current shares to the PH apartment. We will need to cancel out the current collateral and issue a new stock certificate and proprietary lease with the new shares totaling 2, 190.

Please advise how we can proceed. If you rather discuss over the phone, you can reach me at the number below.
