Good morning Kyle,

Just to quickly update on the status of the doors. They arrived and are cleared. As of right now, the container in which they are located is up next to be offloaded, she mentioned to call back in one hour to see if they are available for pick up. I will have them picked up from Tropical when I get confirmation today. Is it possible to get these doors over to the island later this afternoon or could it be best to do that early Monday morning? Please advise.

Best,
