They are in Florida, Homestead, they ship everywhere in the Caribbean, through tropical shipping and or King Ocean. I attached you pictures of Sabal naturally growing on the driest part of st Barth.

Those are great Jeffrey, However the Sabal showed is not sabal « causarium » its sabal =C2◆ palmeto » although it is as resistant, It will be great to locate some =C2◆ causarium » species. I looked with the nursery I'm working with and they found some nice one but not as tall as I expected ( pictured attached) . Regarding Bismarck palm I'm not quite agree about the fact they suffer from lack of water( attached fact sheet) they naturally from the Madagascar desert so =E2◆◆ its in their genius to handle drought!

I'm almost done with sketches plans and plant list quantities, I'll send you all this tomorrow.

Best,

Kévin.

Ps; Do you want me to deal directly with Richard Kahn? I also asked the people I usually work with a quotation, but I have no problem working with some else you more familiar with...

The =ollowing attachments are various palm trees that are available. =n regard to your question about survival without water for a period of =-10 days, the 2 that would be the most sensitive to that are the =agestic Palm and the Bismarkia Palm. I have to caution you =bout the Bismarkia because as I mentioned it is a very sensitive =alm to transplant and transport. It would be more successful in a =ontainer and not at a mature size. Perhaps, even grown from seed =s I have discovered. The pricing guideline varies from palm to =alm. When you look over the material and decide what works best =or you, if you could please inform me of the size you would like I will =e able to disclose prices immediately. If you have any =urther questions or requests for variety please let me know and I =ill get it to you as soon as possible. I look forward =o hearing from you.
