Yes. It would be good if you let us know what they are up to and why the letter has to be so strong and how the letter will help.
We'll call you in 10 minutes.

Valeria

Dear Jeffrey,

We are finding a difficult time in finding the right way to write the letter. Would you have some suggestions?

And about the settlement, I don't care how much money is involved, I am not going to sign a settlement agreement saying that Harry and Max did not do anything wrong, because I am not going to lie.

I am happy if Noam finds a way to establish a settlement with his family, because a family should not go to court, from my understanding. And the whole situation that a son comes to challenge his father because of money, it is totally surreal to me. But I am not going to accept their conditions, as Harry already suggested in a letter to Noam for Noam to shield him and Max from what they have done wrong.

You have been a hero for us and there are not enough words to thank you.

Valeria

Since he is not answering any of my questions, I do not know how to proceed. Should I consult with Vincent first? Just fire him and start on a new tack?

This is a letter that would make the insurance company nervous. If it were to be released, so make it strong

Let me see if I understand. You're suggesting that I write a letter that reviews the failures of the Trustees to provide relevant information about distributions from the trust, including the obligatory distributions to me (which we have no record of receiving)? Anything else? To whom should the letter be addressed?

Shouldn't I consult with Vincent before doing anything? Don't want him to feel that I'm making an end-run around his efforts on our behalf.

I wonder whether this is really the right thing to do now. Vincent seems to feel that a settlement is possible that will end the matter of the trust on essentially the terms I proposed (at your suggestion) some time ago. Wouldn't it make sense to see if this can proceed before writing a letter, which would essentially repeat what is in our petition we filed, which reviews all the facts.
