Greetings all, I have been looking for a crew boat quite actively in the internet and also in different classifieds including PR. There is only one gold coast power cat for sale in the market and we have seen it. Its from 1993 has jet drives and needs quite a bit of TLC. Everything else I see around is a project boats or old ferries that would need constant repair. It is my personal recommendation that we go with a new gold coast made to our specs and needs. These vessels are built totally in the virgin islands have complete support from the manufacturer and are built to US coast Guard specs. All major resorts have a gold coast as their day boat also the St John ambulance boat is a gold coast.

Thankyou
Respectfully
