Plans for Transitioning Housekeeping=Staff

1. I understand we are running a business and that=you want to transition the entire housekeeping staff.

=/div>

2. The hesitation you see in me is the consequence of added trai=ing and supervision this will require from me since everyone will be inexp=rienced with your space and preferences. I want to perform well for you in=making sure all your needs and request are met.

=div>3. Hiring a cleaning company to get in, do their thing, and get out ma=es the most sense to me. Because we'll be paying them for what they ac=omplish instead of for the hours they're here, this will require less =supervisory time from me while ensuring the job gets done in a timely manne=.

4. [REDACTED] Dulce is =y far the most valuable and works hardest of the four ladies.

She carries =ears of institutional wisdom from which I need to glean. She knows everyth=ng from what kind of t-shirts you prefer to the exact steps for hurricane =reparation. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] Instead of four full-time persons, she could be a solo lead in keepin= a hawk's eye on the cleaning company and picking up whatever needs oc=ur when they are not here, freeing me to focus on other things. I can desi=nate Okeam (Kilo - the young man who works very hard as my right hand pers=n who was helping us in the tunnel) to help her as needed. This will signi=icantly reduce the staffing needs in housekeeping while ensuring a tidy an= well-stocked environment.
