Dear =ich

I'm=writing to update you on our Springs sales as things have =hanged. The two single owner collections that were to be sold =longside the April Collector sale which were the reason for offering =he bureau plat have been put on hold indefinitely as the real estate =as not sold. Without this crucial critical mass of French =urniture here in New York to attract the international clients that =ould be interested in the bureau plat, it is going to be very difficult =o sell it in April.

After discussing this with my colleague =ill Strafford, the senior international specialist here in New York, we =ould like to move it to the October Collector auction which =hould feature comparable works. I realize that this may seem like = long time away but the bureau plat is a great object with a fantastic =rovenance and it deserves the very best possible chance.

Please let me know if this meets with Mr. Epstein's approval. In the meantime, I will also reach out to my international furniture colleagues to see if they know of any other potential opportunities.

Kind regards

Anne
