Luis just called me back. He said he'd also been in communication with Rich today.

As far as timeline for completion: he thinks one week, by the end of next weekend for sure.

As far as the library goes, he says because the floors have been waxed, poly is not an option. It will not adhere to the floors. He can wax and burnish them, or they can attempt a European hard wax oil. He said he would work it into the same timeline for completion.

=div>Shall I have them wax the floors and see how you like it?
