Once you've restarted in target disk mode & attached to the computers with the cables, the old computer should appear as an external drive on the new one.

Open /Use=(your account name) on the old drive to see your old files and drag and drop.

Yes. They are in the audio adapter box underneath the iMac in its box.

Thank you,

You can. The backup drive is already configured though, so it doesn't need to be setup. Just plugged in.

Thank you,

No. Instructions will work regardless of version on old machine.

The WD MyCloud backup drive (blue box separate from the iMac Pro box) needs to be connected via Ethernet somewhere on the network. Could be to an AirPort Extreme, but best to the main switch in the maintenance closet where the modem lives.
