The Wellfleet house was a house No=m bought for the Summer time in the 1970s. Where Noam would spend time writing. The house was transferred to his children's name and =transformed into an LLC. The family gathers there in the Summer.♦=A0 Noam was paying $50,000 annuallyas a rent fee for the house, but we were staying only one or two weeks there. And considering all our situation, o=r new lawyer recommended to stop these payments immediately.

I asked Noam and he is confirming that all the Trusts, e=en the ones established under Carol's name were funded with his money.=/div>

The girls have jobs, but according to Noam, they =on't make enough from their jobs. But they live very comfortable lives= Travels, etc.

It seems they complement their income with investments from money that Noam has given them along the years, including annual distributions. Noam bought them their houses. Helped them with house renovations. When one of the daughters divorced, Noam gave the daughter's spouse a house, as part of the divorce agreement. Used to pay for airline tickets, etc. There are copyright of books in their names of in=their own trusts.

The son doesn't work. His wife doesn't work either. They have a wonderful boy who=has autism and we were paying his medical expenses. But they live a very comfortable life. Travel constantly business class. Hiking in Switzerland, etc.

We are not interested in any of the money/assets from the past or to which they are the beneficiaries. Their lifestyle is not our business. All we want is to be independent with the one source that Noam was left with -- the IRAs and our work and jobs. The whole problem is because they insist that they have to be in charge of our financial life, to be part of the planning of our financial life, to be=included in our decisions, such as the moving to Arizona. It is some=kind of controlling personalities.

One of =he problems was when we bought the Cambridge apartment and Noam told that =e wanted the apartment to be mine unencumbered.

=div>What they don't seem to understand is that their behavior causes a=lot of stress to Noam. Otherwise, we are very happy. And would=like to have peace to enjoy our life together without interferences. ♦=A0

Hi, thanks for your reply.

We are very, very concerned that y=u are not understanding and not getting help in understanding what is happeni=g with your finances. Your responses below only increase our concern. The three of us are not able to serve as financial advisors. We urge you strongly to speak directly with Max so that he can clarify what he says in the Memo and explain what the Promissory Note language means.

Just to give you one example of ou= concern: You focus on one phrase: that the interest will be "t the highest rate in effect." But you are taking those words out of =ontext. We really don't think we should be trying to explain these d=tails to you, but to try to summarize: this phrase applied to the double nature of the loan—the Marital Trust had to borrow money from Persh=ng to make the loan to you, until the Lexington house was sold. The phrase you quote applies only to that brief period, and has no impact on the interest accruing now or in the future.

We can see why focusing on those s=x words would make you angry. But the six words mean nothing in and of themse=ves (i.e., what rate is "in effect"?). But instead of doi=g the logical thing—getting the full information—you are just so angry th=t you refuse to find out the truth.

Again, this is just one example of=where you are stating conclusions based on faulty or incomplete information. There are explanations for your other issues as well (how the DNI is paid to you, how the interest payments can be made, etc) but rather than us trying to summarize the information for you here, we think it would make more sense for you to discuss them with the people who set all of this up, in the context of a broader conversation. Reading your response only redoubles our sense that you are simply misreading important elements of your entire financial situation, and that you are making big decisions based on faulty information. We feel that you have painted yourself into a corner, in which you arrive at the worst possible interpretation of complex legal language, and then refuse to speak with the very people who could explain it to you, and just get angry at them based on your misin=erpretations.

We beg you once again to meet with=us and with the people who set up the Trust, the loan, etc., to clarify these issues.

Love, Avi, Diane and Harry

Glad to see the memo. I compared the memo with t=e original document, the promissory note that is the official signed agreeemen=. The memo is in error about the promissory note. The facts are as I already described them. A few comments interspersed into the memo you sent, attached.

I don't see any point in discussions with Max and =ainco. The facts seem completely clear.

If there are other issues, I'd of course be glad t= know about them.

I hope we can settle all of this quickly.

As promised, please find attached = memo with information about the Marital Trust, and in particular the condit=ons on the loan from the Trust, which are somewhat different from what you indicated to us in your previous email.

We have thought for a long time that you have misunderstood key aspects of the financial situation. This is why we have been asking you to meet with us and with Max and Bainco. The issues discussed in this memo are only one part of the picture. We still think that the meetin= we have been urging is important and could clear up other issues.

We're in the process of arranging our finances with the impending sale of the apartment and the move to Tucson, and would like to clear up some unsettled questions.

In my letter to you I outlined what I have determined about the matter.♦=A0 In your letter you said that you think the facts about the Marital Trust and the conditions on the loan from the Marital Trust and the way the inter=st works are different from what I understand, and that you have different facts.

You said you were working on a memo to lay out the facts as you see them.=C2♦ Any progress on this? I'd like to clarify this so that we can set=le just what the facts are.
