
From: Aaron Moskowitz [REDACTED]
Sent: Friday, June 23, 2017 8:53 PM
To: Jeffrey Epstein; Lesley Groff
Cc: Bruce Moskowitz M.D.
Subject: Biorealize Follow up

Hello Jeffrey,

I was at the DreamIt showcase today and had a chance to speak to Orkan [REDACTED] and Mike are up at the Bio Design Challenge in New York.

<http://biodesignchallenge.org>. Biorealize is the company that helps translate these ideas to products.

They had great traction with angel investors, raising over $500k immediately in convertible debt. The $500k will help them deliver their preorders and build out services. I think they're in a position where they want to deliver on some early milestones before taking in more money from investors. The $2M raise was thrown out for discussion purposes while they were on the DreamIt investor roadshow. I suppose this is not a unique situation for a startup; determining how fast and big to grow.

If you'd like to speak with the Biorealize team I can set up a call or NY visit. I'd like to hear your thoughts on their fundraising and any advice would be greatly appreciated. Please let me know a time that works for you.

Sincerely,

Aaron

=