On Friday July 7th, I spoke with Danny Vicars about the leak we have on LSJ near the generator room. Danny said he would like to put liquid cement into the pipe to stop the water from running. I advised Danny not to put liquid cement into pipes, that they need to dig and find the source of the leak to fix it. After about 45 minutes to an hour I went to see how the digging was going, to find out Danny totally disregarded what I told him to do, and went ahead and put liquid foam into pipes to stop the water from coming into fuel room. I am writing Danny up because of his lack of respect for authority and his poor judgement in work ethics.
