
From: jeffrey E. <jeevacation@gmail.com>
Sent: Thursday, April 27, 2017 4:47 PM
To: Donald Rubin
Subject: Re: trip to NYC

will not be thre

<=iv class="gmail_quote">On Thu, Apr 27, 2017 at 12:43 PM, Donald Rubin <[REDACTED]>
<mailto:[REDACTED]> wrote:

Hi Jeffrey,

=/div>

My time in NYC in May is getting crowded by meals and meetings w=th folks at Columbia etc., but I would love to see your spectacular place.=C2◆ I arrive sometime on Sunday 14 May (from the middle of nowhere ◆=80◆ Penn State !), and am totally tied up on Monday and Tuesday. I=E2◆◆m meeting a friend who is flying into NYC from Paris on Wednesday =ight, and she and I are planning to return to Boston on Thursday or possib=ylater depending on evolving plans. Anything possible with that sch=dule?

Of course you're welcome to attend =y lecture on Tuesday afternoon — I think it'll be at the b=siness school, but I'm not yet sure.

Best= Don

Donald B. Rubin
John L. Loeb Professor of Statisti=ls
Department of Statistics, Harvard University
1 Oxford Street
Ca=bridge MA 02138
[REDACTED]

--

conversation-id 46174 date-last-viewed 0 date-received 1493311608 flags 8590195713 gmail-label-ids 7 6
remote-id 709014