From Jaime the Broker:

Larry:

The helicopter is undergoing its annual inspection maintenance at Ecolift, a=Bell Authorized Service Center, based in Isla Grande Airport. Because of that it will not be pretty as it maybe partially dismantled. We typically avoid showing aircraft in this conditions because it may cause a negative impression to the buyer. So we would prefer to show it in a future visit when it is fully assembled and ready to do a test flight for him.

However if your principal is still interested in seeing it under these circumstances, we will accommodate his visit. I could even pick you guys up at S=U and take you to Isla Grande and back, or we can meet at Ecolift if you prefer. Just let me know what works best for you. But please confirm by calling my cell phone or texting me as I do not see business emails too often during the weekend. Thank you.
