Aircraft Cabin Measurement

Butt Line is the distance measured from side to side with the absolute center of the aisle being the 0.0 Butt Line. For example, 11" to the right of the center of the aisle is referred to as "R/H Butt Line 11".

If you measured 14" to the left of the center aisle, that would be "L/H Butt Line 14".

I also teach violin on Thursday's....

Best Regards,

Eric

not sure what that butt line means

I can move the divans aft a few inches to "center them up" on the red line on the window to express logical placement.

Will that work for you?

As far as moving them outboard, that outboard ledge is inconsequential as the divan backrests fall at that Butt Line (measurement inboard / outboard). We can however make the back rest cushions "slightly thinner" as well as the bottom cushions to open up the space between the divans.

Jeffrey,

Attached is a one page pdf that illustrates the two (2) different floor plans- the bottom dwg is per our last conversation.

Please take a look, comment or call so that I know if we are heading in the right direction for us to provide you with a proposal.

P.S. Yes, those are two art deco or interesting lamps.

Best Regards,

Eric
