of a whole,

While still a monism, Leibniz's universe is dual aspect, more complex t=an features a spacetime aspect. Leibniz's universe also features a mental aspect or perspective.

Quanta, which are mental particles, can therefore travel faster than light,=ie at infinite speed, enabling the Einstein-Podolsky-Rosen phenomenon

Bohm's Implicate-Explicate universe is seemingly dual aspect, but is no= a true

Leibniz's universe, since the mental and physical are simply Cartesian,=two parts not truly dual aspect.
