Don't recognize this activity?

If you didn't recently receive an error while trying to access a Google service, like Gmail, from a non-Google application, someone may have your password.

SECURE YOUR ACCOUNT

Are you the one who tried signing in?

Google will continue to block sign-in attempts from the app you're using because it has known security problems or is out of date. You can continue to use this app by allowing access to less secure apps

<<https://accounts.google.com/AccountChooser?Email=jeevacation@gmail.com&continue=https://www.google.com/settings/security/lesssecureapps?rfn%3D27%26rfnc%3D1%26et%3D0%26asae%3D2>>, but this may leave your account vulnerable.
