Subject: sorry I missed your call

JE,

--Last week was misery...On Tuesday, Katinka's' younger brother, =onathan Matson, was planning on flying in from Boston and having dinner =ith her. After several emails back and forth in the morning, he wrote =o say he was packed and ready to leave the house but he had been =ighting a stomach bug, so he had decided it was best to postpone and go =o bed. He was fine at 6pm when his wife (a Mass General health =rofessional) came home. She brought him a coke, went downstairs to make =inner. Half an hour later she went upstairs to check on him. He had =ied. We got the news at 9pm on a phone call from someone we hadn'= talked to in 20 years" "Jonathan Matson has died" was =mpossible to process. Katinka is still was distraught and, just coming =ut of shock.

--And...this, from my older brother Philip ("Distinguished NASA =hyscist" awardee), who had prostate surgery about 25 years, and got =ucky be living in Raliegh-Durham, near Duke Medical Center which is =ops. They've kept him alive and it's finally caught up to him:

"I have run out of standard treatments. Chemo is getting less effective =ith increasing side effects. There is a new drug Keytruda it has been =pproved for some cancers but is still experimental for prostate cancer.

=<https://prostatecancernewstoday.com/pembrolizumab-immune-therapy-help-men=rostate-cancer/>. I have been approved to get Keytruda and will start on =hursday."

--Finally, did I ever tell you about the Biosphere crowd? Absolutely =utty cult I represented in the early 90s. (Although individually the =people were sometimes fun). My friend Roy Walford, the doctor inside the =iosphere, eventually died because of a condition he developed while =nside. I kept sending writers down there to work with them and they =ould inevitably sneak away in the dead of night. I had to sell their =ook three times, each time for a fractions of the previous advance =hich started in 7 figures. Turns out Bannon took over as CEO of the =lace in 1993 so we may have overlapped.
