I am very sorry I didn't clarify and doublecheck with you. I would have=never ever have him over if I hadn't got that response from you. I sho=ld have emailed you right away when he asked me if he could come back last=night (he didn't know I needed to ask your approval for that). I didn&=39;t know he would come back - I have text messages from him at 8pm last n=ght saying that he would FaceTime me in the morning and that we should mee= "tomorrow."

The reason why I asked if=Pen could stay over is that the only other option was for both of us consi=ted of going to CT. I was worried (and am still worried) that his parents =eight not like the idea that I am constantly staying with Pen in their fami=y properties. I stayed in CT for a few weeks before leaving to SF when the=guests were staying at 3M; then I stayed for more than a month at the hous= he rented in Palo Alto; we are going to their house in SV most probably r=ght after the Christmas. I don't want them to think I am a freeloader =o I am not sure what would be the right thing for me to do at this point.=C2◆

I have learned my lesson and have asked Pen=Not to come over here again.
