Thanks John our 45 day window to appeal to the BLUA expires on November 5, 2016 – so if you can get us a draft next week. If you need any legal research from our end— please let me know.

I would still try, given the vagueness of the height restrictions and him quoting rules and regulations that aren't approved. We just have to restate the case.

John – Cecile, Amy & I had the discussion regarding the flagpole at a meeting with JP and the Commissioner and she deferred to him on the 45' height restriction. I'm not sure that it would make a difference to go back to her and ask her to reconsider.

Jeffrey,

I was going to say you didn't call the Governor to set up the meeting. He followed the issue in the media and reached out to you. That's how I understood it when we spoke on the island, but I wasn't a 100% sure. If that is the case, it might be beneficial if the Governor states that at the beginning of the meeting so these guys don't think you are running to him every time you have a problem with them. Additionally, I think we maneuvered them into stating we could ask the Commissioner to reconsider the 45 foot height restriction on the flagpole, particularly since the permit hasn't been fully executed as yet. It is clear to me the section referenced to limit the height appears to refer to attachments on a building rather than a freestanding pole. Hopefully the Commissioner can prevail with that. If not, go to Land Use & Appeals.
