We should pay attention, too, to the many men whose lives are about to get significantly worse under Trump. Immigrant men. Gay men. Black men at risk of police violence. Men who rely on the Affordable Care Act for their health insurance. Men who reject traditional masculinity. And even the men and women who voted Trump to victory — white people who traded racial resentment for the kind of progressive change that would have improved their lives, too. They surely think feminism has nothing to offer them compared with a promise to restore them to their former position of unearned power; they are about to see how wrong they are.

dear. I would like to confirm our recent and frankly very perplexing conversation. I had agreed to your proposal and that of Arthur Klein, .=C2 salary , sharings , responsibilities. etc. Ar=hur and I were clear and had agreed that expenses would be in the form of = stipend. What I think I heard from you is that you no longer =an stand by the proposed agreement. . If that is true,=C2 please confirm to me in writing. I am very surprised =A0 , and find it difficult to understand
