Dear Mr. Jeffrey Epstein

As the fall social festivities are in full swing, we are about to turn our attention indoors to holiday gatherings with family and friends. It's this time of year when you wished you'd thought of an autumn renovation, a total gut job or even a new home.

Do not despair.

Many of you have known or have heard of my great friend, Sandy Gallin, as he was the most succesful talent manager in Hollywood.

Over the past 40 years, Sandy has represented everyone from Michael Jackson, Dolly Parton, Cher, Nicole Kidman, Joan Rivers, Richard Pryor to Whoopi Goldberg.

He also spent 40 years entertaining an elite showbiz crowd in the 47 homes he designed, built, lived in and eventually sold-homes in Beverly Hills, Malibu and recently, the Hamptons.

As Sandy created these magnificent environments, known for their dramatic staging and cozy, livable luxury, his friends kept asking him to design their houses.

What started as a sideline stress-relieving hobby for all those years, eventually flourished into a significant second career 7 years ago, when Jeffrey Katzenberg officially hired Sandy to supervise the architecture, construction, landscaping and decorating of his Bel Air estate.

Sandy understands how creating a beautiful home and sharing it with family and friends can strengthen relationships and literally bring you a better quality life and happiness.

I cannot recommend his life-enhancing work enough. It is now an attainable possibility to have a Sandy Gallin home. He recently expanded his business on both coasts.

Please take a look at his amazing, newly-launched website at www.sandygallin.com

Feel comfortable contacting Sandy at [REDACTED] or [REDACTED]
<[REDACTED]> He can supervise an entire building project, or simply decorate the interior.
Consultations are possible.

Sandy would be thrilled to hear from you and create a special heaven on earth just for you.

xoxo,

Peggy Siegal
