Greetings everyone,

So much good is happening at Wearality—on just about every possible front—that it is time to step back and share that news with you, our investors. Much of what we share is confidential, about the company and its partners, so please consider the trust we're expressing by sharing. Remember also that forward looking observations are subject to uncertainty. Contents are attached in PDF form.

Thank you for your confidence,
Michael, the executive staff, and all of Wearality
