I will send an updated list today in similar excel form as sent previously. Updates will include July 2014 appraised values and improved period categories for each work.

Rich: Where do you stand on getting me and trustees a copy of the art inventory? As Ada may have communicated, based on our recent meeting, the trustees will need this in order to make an informed decision regarding participation in Narrows. While our anecdotal experience is certainly that Leon is a great art investor, we want to analyze the inventory (with related cost and valuation information) to better quantify that impression.

As you and I discussed, I don't think it matters for now if the inventory is imperfect, since we will be using it to form a general opinion about art investment expertise.

When can you get something to us?
