attached is a basic drawing showing side view of BH and the =cope of work that is required for this fix.

10k would be to cut out old stucco, =esh, rotten plywood sheeting. Replace plywood, mesh and completely =tucco walls for Zorro to paint.

Note we where =ainting entire bunkhouse anyway.

The $5 per sq ft was for sheeting =eplacement- this is open ended !!!
Square footage =oughly under 1/2 of Larry's, After reviewing =arrays file there is more work involved with =he repair at the bunkhouse, compared to Larrys job Larrys was a simple stucco job, there was no structural =epairs involved.

hope this helps, if you wish to discuss let me know They are continuing to replace windows on porch side, but i =ill need give direction on how we wish to proceed by the end of =ay.

Rich

Attached pictures for your reference and estimates

unkhouse JJ's crew have started to removed the Trim around the windows at the

Some of the framing at sill level is rotten and will need to be removed.
This will entail removing stucco and rotten framing on the exposed walls of the unkhouse

The windows sills on the covered porch are ok JJ has provided estimates to open up effected area and new stucco for exposed walls only

Once area is open and we can determine extent of damage, he will then provide bid for repair of effected areas.

I=recommend this approach, otherwise it would be a time and material job =hich is a little open ended.

please advise on how we are to =roceed.
