Dear Jeffrey,

Great talking to you today. Trude =emb's catalog is on its way to your address in New =ork.

Trudie is an amazing expressionist. As one journalist put =t; This is Edvard Munch meets The Ramones.

She still works figuratively with =trong roots in German Expressionism, inspired by artists such as Die =rucke (Emil Nolde, Ernst Ludwig Kirchner, Karl Smith-Rottluff), Oscar =okoschka, Egon Shiele, Kate Kollwitz, George Rouault, Chaim =outine, Francis Bacon and Marlene Dumas.

Artist Tom Sachs recommended =rudie's art at a dinner party in Oslo after his exhibit at Astrup =earnley Museum, Oslo. As mentioned Norwegian's are pretty conform =eople but there are some collectors, banks and firms collecting her =ack home as well. She's also =ad good sales in Denmark, Germany and The Check Republic. Our goal is =o establish a broader market for her art in the US. The US and South =merican market is probably more susceptible to her powerful art that =mbodies so much emotion. Yes to Expressionism Renaissance.

Attached is a review and hereunder = photo link for a new piece; =#8220;The World That Never Was" (very cool retro Mad Men style =ainting), currently at Heiberg Cummings Design's show room in =slo.

I am in Florida until March 1st and back again =rom Oslo in April. If time allows and you ever manage to leave the =ropics, I have 4 great paintings here that I could show you. One is =alled "Oblivion Seeker". It is Stella. She is such a =orgeous, strong young woman today at 18 years old. There were hardships =or her growing up due to the accident she had as a child. =#8220;Oblivion Seeker" is my personal favorite. See photo =ttached. Another strong one is "Shoah" – photo =ttached.

Enjoy the Caribbean! Cold day in South =lorida.

All the best,
