Hi Jeffrey,

Why haven't you responded to my emails? I hope you're not in jail again. I forwarded the photos of my apt. as you requested. It's hard to tell what the apt. is like from the photos, so why don't you call when you're in NY. I haven't seen you in ages----literally. I attached some articles about Erik's work and upcoming shows, just in case you're interested and want to take a look. I'm so happy that he is working at what he loves. He told me when he was four years old that he was going to be an artist and a daddy when he grew up. I laughed it off at the time, but it looks like he was right (about being an artist). He brings me so much joy. He leads a very scholarly life, he doesn't have a tv at home, and spends his time reading, writing, listening to classical music and talking with other smart kids from Columbia and a community of painters. Did I mention that I love him more everyday and he just had his 26th birthday.

Love,
