Michael (geek squad)

very smart guy ... showed up with booties to keep your place clean ... complimented how nice the room looked.

Took very detailed notes on my questions, concerns, all the gear.

He measures the screen, the distance from the couch to the screen

Was impressed you had that sony projector ... said it was an amazing projector for its time and was telling stories about how when it was first released in japan ....

you had to have a credit check done on you just to see it

I pressed him on how typical he was for a geek squad guy and he admitted that he was one the best if not the best the company has .....

I made it very clear to him that your specific requests must be answered first ... then he was free to suggest other avenues we might take.

He thought that instead of samsung we may consider a pioneer blu-ray because of some conversion settings that would give the sony its best picture possible .... He thinks 1080i may be the best conversion picture for that model, denon was a good choice but may also recommend a marantiz (parent company) as he said it may be a simple and high quality solution, if we want details on control 4 solutions that takes a week or more to get .... they also sell sonos and agrees it is awesome and uses a system at home,,,, note he is not a mac guy but I could fill in the gaps for him with no issue he was very confident in his teams ability to deliver a solution you would be happy with also I liked the fact that he had no agenda to sell us anything ..... he was giving honest direct answers and backing them up with specific technical knowledge of why `that' solution was a good choice.

So I expect to see a spec sheet on a denon samsung atv and URC control plus cost to install configure and calibrate sound and picture to your satisfaction

 he noted that more than likely he would recommend you get an independent contract to pull the hdmi cable as that is a very expensive charge for them to do as I get more details I will send to you and if more details are needed or you have a specific ?s please let me know and i will do my best to answer them and redirect michael when we start to email each other thurs

I would recommend a direct contact with him if you choose .... i was impressed ... but granted my expectations were low going into it scott
