Jeffrey,

I have spoken again with James Henderson this afternoon.=nbsp; His client is maintaining her stance that she wants us to refer the =elevant publisher to her and she will confirm her position. I have e=plained that this is of absolutely no use to us, as the Telegraph i= particular will have no interest whatsoever in initiating such an approac=.

As a compromise, I suggested that we be provided with the letter=on our undertaking not to release same without the D of Y's permissi=n. I also reassured him that I would be proposing to use the letter =ithin the confines and limitations of the legal process. =/span>

</=:p>

He wants =o speak to his client again and has agreed to revert me asap.</=pan>

On another =ote, you didn't get back to me regarding the attached draft response=I was proposing to forward to Tatler's solicitors (copy attac=ed)?

Kind regards,

Paul
