Jeffery, how are you? my trip coming to the end..i've got more few days to enjoy the city which never sleeps. I was invited to take classes this week with complexions. lucky me, i won't pay for extra days! I haven't mention you before, but i've started a new activity. I represent the jewelry maker from Lithuania. I have offered myself to do it, because i am very admire on his works and of course there is an opportunity to make some money. its very unique, very luxury, all there are made from platinum, gold and other gems. very different and still wearable. I brought with me two rings and i have few photos of different jewelry he makes. I would love to show it for someone who is interested in very unique jewelry, but i don't know from where to start. you are always full of great ideas. maybe this time you can give me an advise.

Thank you Jeffrey. i am still having a hope to see you and give you something what belongs to you! :) little gift! huge hug!

i've attached a few photos for you to view. i would be very grateful for your opinion.
