>>feeling better?

Good days, bad days and it's mainly about sleep. The frozen shoulder =yndrome, for some reason kicks in at night when I'm asleep. Have to get =p and either use ice or heat. Otherwise, functional.

The good news is that JJ came up with a book proposal last week and I am =ucturing it next Tuesday. Lots of interest. Here it is (confidential, please: =https://www.brockman.com/Projects/Proposals/Jacquet\_Shame/Jacquet\_Shame.html)

The bad news is that absent an intervention, she departs for Western =anada in a few days. "It's soul crushing", she writes. So here's the =uestion, in the following message, is she talking anOut JE or JB?? She =s also interested in the possibility of going to Princeton which would =equire a grant to pay her way at the Princeton Center for Human Values. =lthough she's fearless on matters intellectual, I imagine she's too shy =o ask you directly, so I will).

JohnnnyB!

The Jewish lawyer is a thing of the past. There is only room for one =ew in my life at a time (minus Jaron, who might never fit*).

Would it be too ironic to ask JE to donate to the Princeton Center for =uman Values? I think I could carry out what I want to do there and be =lose to everything...

Yes, of course, to dinner. I await instructions.

Until Tuesday,

JJ.
