"photo2.jpg" is of the existing window insulation. This was typical of all of the windows. This was a piece of foam that sealed the aircraft of only 1/3 of the window, the rest was without any insulation at all, exposing the clear desiccant tubes.

"photo1.jpg" is of the newly installed insulation. We removed the old insulation that only treated 1/3rd of the window and installed the new open cell foam insulation around the total perimeter, being especially careful not to "pinch" the desiccant tubing.

We are trying to keep things moving as quickly as possible to maintain the schedule.
