from THE SAUCE

Creating Compassionate Cultures by Pamela Cayton.

Creating Compassionate Cultures (CCC) believes that the missing ingredient for contentment and wellbeing in life is focusing on the happiness of=others. From this perspective we see the need for an education system that sows the seeds of compassion from an early age and continues to develop=this altruistic psychology throughout life.

If children could understand that the source of happiness lies within their own minds and not within material possessions and entertainment= this would become the seed for developing psychological and spiritual un=erstanding.

Similarly, if we could nurture parents, teachers, children and communities to discover that benefiting others is the quickest path to happiness.=2E
