

It's important to experiment. Once something sticks, go big. Be relentless about handling failure with persistence and positivity.