i =eally need your help. the backer of my publishing project for [REDACTED] = see attached) pulled out yesterday leaving me one month to publish =nd distribute her book with all the media placements already in =lace.

the best way i know how to make it still =appen is to sell off all the inventory we have in stock by developing =n ambassador program that asks a handful of people to contribute $1,500 = $2,500 as a sponsorship donation to help build out kids libraries at =chools/organizations that want our product.

I =eed to raise a further $15,000 and can likely do it, but i have a tiny =indow to turn it around and from the people I've so far considered =everyone wants to know whether it can be a tax deductible donation. =nbsp;

I appreciate this isn't your cup of tea = at all) but pulling off this project now is of extreme importance to =e, moreover because of how it could (will) positively impact my =isa which has three months left on =t.

Is there a way for Chocolate Sauce to =lign with Enhanced Education?

Attached =s the story if you care to read, plus a short video clip of [REDACTED]
