No= The Apple TV (3rd generation- latest and greatest) =oes work but requires internet access.

Yo= have internet access on board your aircraft through the Aircell system =hen you are above 10,000 feet over the continental =SA.

Si=ce you do not have internet access when on the ground, we tested the =ystem using Larry's phone set up as a hot spot and played a movie =hat was stored on his i-Pad.

Th= reason that you need to have internet access is because the movie =studios have been trying to combat aftermarket bootleg piracy on =VD's (china) and other forms of distribution (internet) so they =ave gone directly to the manufacturers of equipment that play their =ontent or distribute their content electronically with tools such as =#8220;image restraint tokens" or in this case, with Apple TV =locking movies from playing unless they can verify that it is an =uthentic licensed movie.

Si=ce Larry / you are looking to play a movie that you have stored on an =Pad while either on the ground or perhaps in St. Thomas where your =ircraft does not have internet coverage, we suggested to Larry that he =urchase a "jailbreak" Apple TV 2 on ebay (and I believe he =rdered one late this afternoon?).

Th=se computer geeks hack the Apple 2 iOS software (they have not =figured out how to hack the 3rd generation yet) and go into =he coding to essentially disarm the requirement to verify the movie =ontents authenticity.

Ba=ed upon our verification with Larry today, you should be able to watch = movie that is on your i-Pad once you are above 10,000 feet all the way =through Florida.
