In this introductory evening to a 4-part Global Summit, How To Academy and Oxford Analytica will be focusing on the future of the Great Powers.

Using the innovative and inspiring format of Oxford Analytica's flagship Autumn Conference, the expert speakers will explore if Global power, whether defined in economic, political, military, ideological or other terms, is slipping away from the countries, sources of ideas and institutions where it has been located for the past few decades.

Is it coalescing around different countries, nodes, organisations and frameworks, some of them unfamiliar to us in the West? Do we now have few 'great' powers and several 'big' ones, complicating the diplomatic landscape at a time of major global challenges?
