Brigitte Lacombe & Michael Rock
Tuesday, April 22nd, 6:30 – 8 PM
The Gallery

Join us for a spirited conversation with photographer Brigitte Lacombe and creative director Michael Rock.

Iconic French photographer Brigitte Lacombe is renowned for portraits, travel photography, and documentary work on film sets. Her work is often seen in Vanity Fair, The New Yorker, Zeit Magazine, Acne Paper, and The Financial Times Magazine. In 1975, she met Dustin Hoffman while shooting at the Cannes Film Festival. He invited her to work on the set of "All The President's Men", and she remained in America. Lacombe works on the film sets of many directors including Martin Scorsese, Spike Jonze, Quentin Tarantino, and David Mamet.

Michael Rock is a founding partner and creative director of multi-disciplinary design studio 2x4 Inc.; Director of the Graphic Architecture Project at the Columbia University Graduate School of Architecture; and Professor (Adjunct) at the Yale School of Art. He is the recipient of the National Design Award in Communication Design from the Smithsonian Institution and the Rome Prize in Design from the American Academy in Rome.
